

AhnLab Sustainability Management Policy

Personal Data Protection Policy

May 28, 2024

AhnLab

Personal Data Protection Policy

As a specialized information security company, AhnLab fully recognizes the importance of protecting personal information. All employees are committed to fulfilling their social responsibility to safeguard personal information throughout every stage of its processing* by adhering to the following principles.

 "Processing" refers to the collection, generation, linkage, interconnection, recording, storage, retention, processing, editing, retrieval, output, correction, restoration, use, provision, disclosure, destruction, and other similar handling of personal information.*

- 1st, the purpose of collecting personal information shall be clearly specified.
- 2nd, personal information shall be collected lawfully and fairly only to the minimum extent necessary for the stated purpose, either in accordance with applicable laws or based on the data subject's consent.
- 3rd, collected personal information shall be processed only to the extent necessary for the stated purpose and shall not be used for any other purpose.
- 4th, personal information shall be securely protected against loss, theft, leakage, alteration, or damage.
- 5th, information on the processing of personal information, including its collection and use, shall be disclosed.
- 6th, the rights of data subjects, including the right to request access to their personal information, shall be guaranteed in relation to the processing of personal information.
- 7th, where the purpose of collecting personal information can be achieved through anonymization or pseudonymization, AhnLab shall process personal information in anonymized form whenever possible. Where anonymization alone is insufficient to achieve the purpose, personal information shall be processed in pseudonymized form.

May 28, 2024

Suk Kyoon Kang

Chief Executive Officer, AhnLab

